Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I would like to voice my opinion of the Microsoft settlement.

the company has a blatant disregard for fair business practices and must be stopped before it is too late. they have demonstrated time and time again that they practice anti-competitive strategy to keep the other companies in their field at a disadvantage.

would you let one company have control over 90% of the gasoline in America and then manufacture cars as well?then they could also tell consumers that if you don't buy our cars and our gas, you car probably wont work as well because we have engineered the fuel to get 100 miles to the gallon in our cars, but 15 miles to the gallon in other companies' vehicles?or better yet, maybe the fuel wont work in their product at all.

what do you think would happen? that is exactly what Microsoft is doing to the computer industry. please restore some order and good faith to the technology sector.

thank you,
